

FIVE MILLIONS FOR WISCONSIN SCHOOLS

SENATE TODAY PASSED FINANCE COMMITTEE'S BILL APPROPRIATING MONEY FOR UNIVERSITY AND NORMAL SCHOOLS.

AMENDMENT IS KILLED

Senator Whitehead's Proposal to Eliminate Mill Tax for Specific Appropriation Is Killed—Other Matters.

Madison, June 23.—The senate today passed the finance committee bill appropriating $5,000,000 within the next two years for the state university and normal schools. Of this amount $3,000,000 is for the university, and $2,000,000 for the normal schools.

Senator Whitehead of Janesville introduced a substitute amendment providing to eliminate the tax of two-eighths of a mill as provided for in the measure, and make a specific appropriation of $1,118,000 in its place.

The one-sixth of a mill tax, as provided for normal schools, he proposed to substitute to a specific appropriation of $500,000. After a heated discussion in which Hastings, (progressive republican leader) charged Whitehead with attempting to amend the bill for selfish political reasons. The amendment was defeated by a large vote and the bill passed.

Re-apportionment bill.

The assembly today ordered to engrossment and third reading the republican bill re-apportioning the state into one hundred assembly districts.

The only change made in the measure, as reported to the committee, reduces the number of districts in Marinette county from two to one, and increases the number in Milwaukee county from 18 to 19.

The bill, in general, gives to the northern part of the state a larger representation, due to increase in population during the past decade.

DEEP WATERWAY BILL LOSES IN THE HOUSE BY A CLOSE VOTE

Illinois House Takes Decided Slap at Both Deneen and Taft by Their Vote.

Springfield, June 23.—The Illinois deep waterway bill providing for the expenditure of $20,000,000 and supported by President Taft, was defeated on its third reading in the Illinois House today, receiving 75 ayes, two less than a constitutional majority, to 54 nays.

It was amid riotous scenes, threats, curses and cries of "gang rule," that Speaker Adkins wielded the gavel to the defeat of administration of the waterway bill in the house today.

The record shows the vote of 75 ayes, 54 nays, lacking two votes for its passage.

The waterway adherents are making a fight for the passage of another bill before the close of adjournment.

Representative Lovett, who said he voted in the affirmative, is recorded against the measure. Representative W. E. Anderson, who insists he voted in the affirmative, is not recorded. These two votes would have given the bill the constitutional majority.

ROYAL PROCESSION DELIGHTS THROGS IN LONDON TODAY

Eight Million People Watch Troops Escort Royal Couple On Their Long March.

London, June 23.—Upwards of eight million men, women and children are estimated to have witnessed the Royal Progress through London today. To the great majority of Londoners and visitors as well the procession was of greater interest than the coronation itself, for comparatively a very few had an opportunity to view yesterday's pageantry.

It was shortly after 11 o'clock this morning when the banding of cannon from the artillery detachment stationed at St. James Park, immediately at the rear of Buckingham Palace, announced to the hundreds of thousands who had taken their places along the route that the King and Queen had entered their carriage and that the royal procession was prepared to move.

The state carriage in which their Majesties rode, and which was a veritable dream in artistic gold and blue enamel, was drawn by eight white horses, with outriders in uniforms of scarlet and gold.

Two hundred life guards in their magnificent uniforms and mounted upon black chargers cleared the way for the procession. Immediately before the carriage galloped a squad of Indian Cavalry. Immediately behind marched the Colonial detachments. All branches of the two services were represented in the line.

The route of the procession was from Buckingham Palace up Constitution Hill and thence by way of Piccadilly, St. James's Street, Pall Mall, Trafalgar Square, The Strand, Fleet Street, Ludgate Hill, St. Paul's Churchyard, Queen Victoria Street and King William Street to London Bridge, where the procession passed over into Southwark.

Fifty thousand troops lined the route and at every important street intersection there was stationed a military band, which played the national anthem as the royal carriage passed. Back of the troops were the spectators, a veritable sea of faces, men, women and children, enthusiastic almost to wildness. Never before, probably had a British sovereign received a more cordial greeting at the hands of his or her subjects. The roar started at the moment that the King and Queen descended the steps of the palace to their carriage, and it lasted until their return.

It was a popular reception in every sense of the word. Myriads of dainty white handkerchiefs fluttered in the air on either side of the fashionable avenues through which the procession passed in its early stages and seemed to keep time with the hoarse cheering of the masculine element, while children tossed out nosegays and baskets full of loose flowers, only to be trampled under the feet of the horses or crushed under the wheels of the carriages.

When the carriage turned into Piccadilly a large number of members of the Stock Exchange who occupied a special stand sang Rule Britannia with tolling bells. A little farther on was a large stand occupied exclusively by Americans. Other stands and windows were filled with hundreds of Canadians, who cheered enthusiastically and waved their flags as their Majesties came into view. The Queen seemed especially pleased with the loyal demonstration by the representatives of the great overseas dominion and acknowledged the greeting by a graceful inclination of her head.

STARTLING FIGURES AS TO LIQUOR USE IN DRY DISTRICTS

Twenty Million Gallons From Mail Order Houses Handled Annually.

Washington, June 23.—Approximately twenty million gallons of liquor annually are shipped by express, principally from the mail order houses, direct to the consumers in prohibition states. This startling fact developed today in an inquiry conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission into the proposed change in the express classification which resulted in an advance of rates on packages containing liquor. The commission held that the express requirement that liquor containers should be packed in corrugated paper cartons was reasonable, but that a charge for transportation based upon arbitrary weights. The weights—eighteen pounds for gallon of whiskey packed—was unreasonable and that a discrimination against stone jugs was also unreasonable.

COLONEL ADAMS TO COMMAND REGULARS

COMMANDER OF FIFTH FIELD ARTILLERY TO BE HERE STAFF FOR MILITARY CELEBRATION.

DECORATIONS ARE UP

Chrome Yellow and Turkey Red, Colors of the United Spanish War Veterans Hung Over Streets.

In an official letter received this morning from Captain E. D. Scott, Adjutant of the Fifth Field Artillery, U. S. A., the fifth field artillery, that Battery F of the Fifth regiment, will be under personal command of Colonel Granger Adams, now in command at Ft. Sheridan. He will be accompanied by personal staff consisting of Captain E. D. Scott, Adjutant, Captain George H. Greene, Quartermaster, Chaplain Murphy and Dr. Clayton of the reserve military reserve corps.

The battery itself will be commanded by Lieutenant Allen and Lieutenant Osborne. They will bring with them the headquarters band and some two hundred head of horses. The camp is to be open for public inspection during certain hours each day of their stay here at which time men will be detailed to explain the workings of the equipment. The battery will arrive in Janesville on Sunday, July 2nd, and will not leave until Thursday, July 6th.

The officers and men will go into camp as they would while on field service. The band is mounted and will take part in the parade on July 4th and will also play in concert during their stay in the city. The battery will participate in anything that it can and will prove a most interesting sight to the other military features of the celebration.

The decorations for the coming celebration on the streets are already put up with the exception of the American flags which will be put in place when the electric arches are strung. The red and yellow colors are the official colors of the United Spanish War Veterans and are known as chrome yellow and turkey red. They are waterproof and will not fade or discolor even if we have a heavy rain between now and the Fourth.

The electric arches will be put in place the night of the coming week and will be lighted three nights during the celebration all night, giving the street a gala appearance night or day. Merchants throughout the city are decorating their stores or planning to do so and the effect will be very handsome to the visitors who will throng the city.

Hart J. Riddle, who has charge of the concessions, was in the city all day today making contracts with would-be concessionists. No contracts with outside persons will be let until next Wednesday so as to give the local men the first opportunity to bid for the places and kinds of concessions they want.

Mr. Riddle has under consideration applications for two carnival companies and numerous individual shows that want to come to Janesville and his mail received this morning contained no less than two hundred applications for concessions or requests for information regarding the nature of the shows wanted, showing the fact that Janesville is going to celebrate has spread over a pretty wide territory.

The headquarters are still besieged for the round mulling cards and an extra supply has been printed to meet the demand. Programs for the three days' entertainments are also on the tables there and can be secured by all who desire them to send to friends or for their own use. Many rooms have already been hired but more are needed and the report by either telephone or in person will receive prompt attention without any cost.

The request for advertising material has come for headquarters from as far north as Red Granite, Minnesota, and St. Paul, and as far south as St. Louis. Old residents of Janesville in Chicago are interested and offering a special rate for the Janesville and two specials will be run from Milwaukee aside from the regular troop specials.

OBITUARY.

Gertrude A. Lake.

The funeral services of Gertrude A. Lake were held at the home at 201 Locust street at two o'clock this afternoon. Rev. W. T. Williams officiating. Interment was made at Oak Hill. The mourners were W. I. Rothman, C. H. Olsson, Chas. Atkinson, and Geo. A. Jacobs. The floral offerings, which were abundant, expressed in silent language the untimely death of a companion who had won a warm place in the hearts of all who knew her.

Miss Lake combined with a love for music a well cultivated talent and her services were in demand, both at home and in other cities where she was known. She was filling an engagement at Elgin when attacked with disease, which developed into typhoid fever, and in spite of all that skill and loving care could accomplish, resulted in her death.

The loss comes with peculiar sadness to the home where her presence was like a ray of sunshine, for she possessed a happy disposition, and her first thought was for the loved ones in the home circle.

She was a member of the Cargill Memorial Methodist church, and an active worker among the young people of the society, where her influence was always felt for good.

When people who are living on borrowed time, just as a girl in the first flush of young womanhood, with eyes bright with hope peering into the future, is called to make the great sacrifice, the mystery is beyond human comprehension, and sorrow fills the heart with a great burden of grief.

Friends may sympathize, as they always do in such an hour, and yet there is nothing but time which eludes the keen edge of sorrow and out of the bereavement comes a hallowed memory, cheered by a hope of immortality.

Mrs. Ed. Ryan. The funeral services for the late Mrs. Ed. Ryan were held yesterday afternoon at two o'clock from St. Patrick's church. Rev. J. J. McGinnity officiating and interment was made in Mount Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were: Wm. Cober, Jas. Ryan, Wm. Spicer, Jr., Patrick Brazzel, Ambrose Ryan, and Wm. Spicer, Sr.

William Wilkinson. Funeral services for the late William Wilkinson will be held from the late residence, 327 Lincoln street, tomorrow afternoon, at half past two o'clock. Rev. T. D. Williams will officiate.

In a Morocco Harem. Every woman in the harem has her face decorated in the most curious manner. The practice is to elongate the eyebrows to the ears and to embellish the chin with little points of black paint. In contrast with the men, their complexions are very fair, as they are shut within walls and are never exposed to the sun.

ANOTHER MINISTER GIVES HIS TESTIMONY

Says "Tona Vita" Is Far More Effective Than Any Medicine He Has Ever Seen Before.

The clergyman of Milwaukee who has been testing the new tonic "Tona Vita" are beginning to report the results they have obtained.

Since this tonic has been introduced into the city, the results to be given to the clergyman of Milwaukee for a trial, the results to be given to the public.

The Rev. Gustave Frederick, residing at 2448 Center street and pastor of the Center Street (Evangelical) church was among the clergyman who have been testing the new tonic "Tona Vita" and he has obtained.

"Judging from my own experience, I do not hesitate to say that 'Tona Vita,' as it is called, is an extremely valuable preparation. In fact, it has proved more effective than I had believed possible. I have not only used it myself, but other members of my family have also been taking it with highly satisfactory results.

"So far as my own case is concerned I have been in a run down condition for a year or so, being easily and being troubled with sleeplessness. I seemed to lack vitality as I caught cold very readily and my digestion and appetite were far from what they should be. Nervousness was also part of my trouble and I was depressed in mind and body.

"I now feel stronger than for a long time. I have more energy and my work is done with much less effort. I sleep and eat better and feel as though rejuvenated.

"I take pleasure in saying that this preparation has been far more effective than any medicine I have ever before taken."

People who are nervous and irritable, have imperfect digestion and stomach disorder, lack energy and ambition, feel melancholy and discouraged, suffer with headaches, backaches, poor memory, unusual sleep, poor circulation, sallow complexion, and who are susceptible to coughs and colds, are unquestionably suffering with that modern plague—nervous debility, say the physicians who are introducing "Tona Vita."

"There are thousands of such half-sick men and women in this country, who really do not know just what is wrong with them," said one of these physicians recently.

"They struggle aimlessly along until they become totally debilitated, and often times they come to us suffering with this dreadful condition in its most aggravated form.

"We have a preparation that will positively remove this trouble and restore the organs of the body to their healthy, normal condition."

There is an attendant remedy, known as Lee's Rhubarb Laxative, which is most valuable to those suffering with chronic constipation. It is pleasant to the taste, does not irritate and acts promptly.

The Smith Drug Co. has secured the agency for Janesville and these celebrated preparations are now on sale at that store.

up their cause. Whatever is true it is certain that the Canadian treaty was most carefully considered from all angles before being presented to congress for its consideration, and if it is not passed it is going to act as a milestone on the necks of the republican party at the next presidential campaign, whoever the candidate may be. It is time for the republicans to get together and show a united front to the common enemy, democracy, and not bicker around the bush like school boys.

DRINKING FOUNTAINS.

According to the state law drinking cups are not allowed in public places, and in consequence drinking, or bubbling fountains, must take the place of the old germ-killing tin cups. Janesville is to entertain many thousands of visitors the first of the coming month and the question of furnishing drinking water for them was a problem until the Water Company and the plumbers came to the assistance of the committee and promised to install bubbling fountains in front of their offices for the accommodation of the public. If others would follow their lead and make them permanent features, it would be a good thing. The city has ordered fountains and they will be installed, but many more will be needed, and here is the opportunity for some enterprising merchant to meet the public demand.

Legislatures may be all right, but when a member gets only five hundred dollars for staying in Madison from January until July, to make the state laws, he feels as though politics on the reform order does not really pay genuine dividends. He is like the man on the celebration committee, who does a lot of work, gets no pay, and watches others reap the harvest of his ideas.

Some way or other, with the advent of the automobile, the fishing stories with the sea serpent attachment, so long an article of trade for summer resorts, has been lost sight of. Instead of that he learns of all sorts of automobile terms which seem to have taken the place of the good old fishing tales.

Chicago still has its labor troubles despite the fact that the grand jury has brought in several true bills of murder against the alleged chief of the trouble-makers. A short shift and a merry one would work wonders in such a complicated system as they appear to have in the windy city.

Janesville is already putting on gala colors for the coming convention. Turkey red and chrome yellow, the colors of the United Spanish War Veterans. When the electric arches are in place a little later it presents a handsomer appearance than ever.

This is the time of the year the ice man jollies and the coal man sobs for the days of bleak November and frozen January. However, it all comes to those who wait. With the winter the ice man could not smile in June or the coal man wail for winter.

With a genuine, regular colonial commanding, the United States army troops to be here from July 24 to July 26, Janesville will certainly be on the military map of the United States for a few days at least.

It looks as though George and Mary are certainly King and Queen of England by this time. If pomp and glory go to make up a successful coronation the royal pair have certainly met all requirements.

Janesville people fail to appreciate the beauties that nature has given the city in its wonderful river. Take a trip up the stream some day and then rave over its beauty, as do all strangers.

"You'll Succeed in Janesville" is strung across Main and Milwaukee streets with the rest of the Fourth of July celebration decorations. It is a good motto to keep in mind and boost consistently for your home city.

This should be good corn weather, but it is too hot for the ordinary mortal to sleep or even enjoy life.

PRESS COMMENT.

Swat! Swat! Swat! Chicago Tribune: The discouraging feature of this crusade is that where the flies are thickest there is the least swatting.

Possibly!

Milwaukee Sentinel: Strange to say, Mr. Bryan was not a guest at the silver wedding celebration in the White House. Possibly because he is no longer wedded to the silver question.

Need Wireless.

Wauson Record-Herald: The cost of living may be lower, but the message evidently is delayed in transmission.

Job Agrees With Him.

Rockford Morning-Star: According to the pictures published, Taft is better looking now than twenty-five years ago.

It's Over Now.

Chicago Record-Herald: Prices are jumping in Wall street. Mr. Morgan has been so busy with the coronation that he has had no time to keep Wall street encouraged.

Not So Very Dry.

Hutchinson (Kans.) News: Memphis is the big town in a statewide dry state, and 1,003 saloons, running without license, were found there the other day.

Who'd Deny It?

Davenport (Iowa) Times: Speaking of sugar, in ten years the National company has paid $5,500,000 in dividends on an investment originally capitalized at $5,000,000. That is a pretty good profit, is it not?

Reasons Are Plenty.

Evening Wisconsin: The amount actually expended in the construction of the new capitol of the state of Wisconsin up to the 10th of the present month was $2,870,170.79. Work is now in progress on the steel frame of the dome. One of the reasons why state taxes are and will continue to be high is the cost of the new capitol. Another is the outlay necessary for maintaining the various state commissions.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

FROM DITCHER TO GOVERNOR.

The other day I read a sketch of the life of J. Frank Hanly, ex-governor of Indiana.

The story left out the most interesting part of Hanly's life, the part that gives the key to his character—his early struggles.

It is not the sort of man to parade his humble beginnings for political purposes, but he began nevertheless very low down—

In a tile ditch.

Almost any old farmer in or about Homer, Ill., could tell you Hanly was a poor young fellow who dug tile ditches for a livelihood.

While he made the tile ditches through the black soil of the corn belt, he also studied law of evenings. And he attended every debating society in that region, taking part.

Sometimes he would be overheard practicing his speeches in the ditch—at least so tradition says—punctuating the lofty periods with the soft motions of his long tile spade.

And then—

Hanly got a chance to make a Fourth of July speech that took the whole countryside off its feet.

Shortly afterward he moved across the state line into Indiana and located in Williamsport in the practice of law.

He made political speeches and won a reputation in western Indiana as an orator. Later he located in the city of Lafayette, where he has a lucrative business.

As governor Hanly made a national reputation.

He stirred the state of Indiana as never before by his graft prosecutions. He forced the resignation of some of the state officers and recovered thousands of dollars to the state treasury.

Hanly hates whisky as he does poison, classing them together, in fact. He forced a reluctant legislature to pass a local option law under which a large part of the state is dry.

As he is under fifty and in great request on the lecture platform, Hanly is likely to be heard from further.

Moreover—

He has not lost touch with the common people whom he knows so well, coming up from among them to his present place. The politician who knows and sympathizes with the wants of the people is a power.

And the career of one who climbs up out of a ditch to be governor should afford much cheer to the poor and aspiring young men.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By W. A. MACY.

THE FIRST OMNIBUSES.

In 1862 a company of prominent men in Paris organized for the purpose of providing cheap transportation for those who could not afford carriages. Pascal, the great writer, was the originator of the scheme and one of the company. King Louis XIV, issued a royal decree, in accordance with the company's desires, authorizing the establishment of a line of two-penny half-penny omnibuses, "for the benefit," so the decree ran, "of a great number of persons ill provided for, as persons engaged in lawsuits, infirm people, and others, who have not the means to ride in chaises or carriages." The decree expressly provided that the omnibuses should run at fixed hours, full or empty, and from certain extreme quarters of the city. The service was inaugurated March 18, 1862, at seven o'clock in the morning. Great interest was taken in the matter, and it was made a festive occasion. The line was started with seven coaches, with seats for eight persons. Four started from one side of the city and three from the opposite side. Each was accompanied by a military escort, and there was much rejoicing. For a time the omnibuses were very popular. Everybody wanted to ride. The king himself tried it. Many people who had coaches of their own waited a week before they could get tickets for the new conveyances. But the novelty soon wore off, the rich rode in their own carriages as before, the poor took to walking again, and the company went out of business before the end of the year. After this failure it was a century and a half before another experiment of the kind was tried.

The village smithy still is found beneath the chestnut tree, but from it comes no clanging sound of hammer swinging free.

THE VILLAGE the villagers have BLACKSMITH gathered round to see what they may see.

The smith, he is a man of might, of large and shrewd frame; and from his dung he takes a bite, and starts in to declaim:

"Well, boys, it really was a sight the way we won the game. We had a man on every base when I stepped up to bat; the pitchers' curves were hard to trace—he knows where he is at—but I just looked him in the face, and knocked the blamed ball flat. Well, stranger, what is that you say? Your horse is needing shoes? Oh, take your cheap old plug away; you give a man the blues; I am too busy here today to shoe old kangaroos. Yes, boys, that that hit brought in them all, and struck the bleachers dumb; I really thought that pitcher'd fall—it knocked him out of plumb! Oh, when it comes to play, the ball your uncle's going some!"

The farmers seek the smithy door to see.

If You Really Insist On Paying TWO Prices

For your dental work, that is your own affair, but I have the largest Dental business in this part of the state.

Simply because I put my charges on a reasonable basis, and do the work the equal of any Dentist.

In fact, far superior to a lot of work I see every day, for which people have paid twice or three times my price.

Let me prove this to you.

THERMOMETERS ARE REGISTERING HEAT IN HIGH FIGURES

One At Bakers Drug Store in the Sun
Stood At 113 At Two This Afternoon.

If this was not the hottest day of the present year it could be close to it that there was very little difference. Thermometers all over the city showed figures above ninety, while one, a government instrument, at Bakers drug store showed 113. It was placed directly in the sun, which consequently had much to do with the extreme heat. At the Peoples Drug Company, in the shade it registered 95. McCue and Russ, also in a cool spot was at 92, at the Reliable Drug Co. it was 91½, at the Smith Drug Company it was 100 at three. At the Gazette office it stood 94. One thermometer in the third ward, a government one, stood at 100, even at three.

DUBUQUE FIRM MAY GET THE CONTRACT

Tibey Bros. Bid For Sewer Construction Work For $11,925.07 Is Lowest and Contract May Be Given Them.

They know, of Dubuque, sewer contractors, are evidently the men who will secure the contract for sewer construction work in the city this year, their bid being the lowest, at $11,925.07. Nine bids were received from contractors, the prices ranging from $16,163.00 down to that of the Dubuque firm. The street assessment committee, however, is canvassing all of the bids to determine which is the most advantageous for the city before making any recommendations. A number of bids were conditional that the bidder be awarded the contract for all the work and not for any special district, each bidder making a separate bid for the work in each district. The contract will probably be awarded at the meeting of the common council on Monday or as soon as the street assessment committee makes its recommendations.

Women's Fashions.

Like the famous Alice, fashion would insist that we grow "taller and taller," and "slimmer and slimmer." Skirts are narrower and longer than ever, and the object of every well-conducted costume would seem to be an expressed declaration that women should have only one leg to stand on.—Madame.

Text of Greatness.

It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Inventor of "Skat."

Skat, which has become the rival of bridge, and has displaced it in some circles, is a purely German game and Altenburg is its home. The earliest records on the subject show that it was evolved out of other card games in 1817, by one Hempel, a professor at the Altenburg college.

Slander is a restless evil which disturbs society, spreads dissension through cities and countries, dissolves the strictest friendships, is the source of hatred and revenge, fills, wherever it enters, with disturbances and confusion, and everywhere is an enemy of peace, comfort and Christian good-breeding.—Massillon.

BOMBS KILL EIGHTY IN MEXICO.

Dynamite Hurling Into Crowd Seizing New Governor at Jalapa. Vera Cruz, June 23.—Disorder continues at Jalapa. Governor Delosua has been forced to resign and two other governors have been seated and unseated in the last two days. The present incumbent, Don Emilio Loyceguil, was the popular candidate, and while he was being serenaded at a prearranged signal, dynamite bombs were hurled into the crowd. About eighty persons were killed or wounded. Many women and children perished.

The city is panic-stricken, all business houses are closed and the entire community is in mourning. There has been fierce fighting in the streets between federal troops and revolutionists and many police were killed. The streets are still strewn with the bodies of dead men and horses.

CALL MAINE COFFERDAM O. K. Army Engineers Deny Calissons Are Deficient in Stability.

Hayward, June 23.—Sensational local reports of the failure of the Maine cofferdam, which has been declared deficient in stability, apparently based on the discontinuation of pumping since the night of June 20, received refutation from Brigadier General Bixby and Colonel Black, the United States army engineers. Both declared that the structure was fulfilling all expectations.

The water level is now at 12 feet. General Bixby said the lowering of the water to a depth of 15 feet had been merely experimental. Probably the level would be maintained at the present depth for a week or ten days.

BATTLE IN LOWER CALIFORNIA.

Fight Ends With Surrender of Forces to U. S. Troops.

San Diego, Cal., June 23.—After fighting two hours with a force of 500 federal troops from Ensenada, one hundred rebels, under "General" Jack Mosby, retreated from Tia Juana, marched three miles to the international boundary line and surrendered to United States troops. Two rebels were killed and one wounded, while it is reported the federalists lost fifty men. With this engagement it is believed the revolt in Lower California is ended.

Old Beliefs Rudely Disturbed.

The old teachings of China and India established the belief in Japan that it was best that women be not needed by others, that their duties were wholly domestic, and that appearing out of doors was unbecoming a faithful wife or dutiful daughter. Garden parties, dinner parties, balls and social calls are new importations from the west.

Motto from Ruskin.

"Try to get strength of heart to look yourself fairly in the face in mind as well as body. I do not doubt that the mind is a less pleasant thing to look at than the face, and for that very reason it needs more looking at; so always have two mirrors on your toilet table and see that with proper care you dress body and mind before their daily."

Have an Aim in Life.

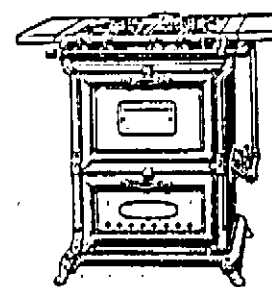

Go into a factory where they make mariners' compasses, and you may see the needles before they have been magnetized. They will then point in any direction, but from the moment they are applied to the magnet they point to the north, and are true to the pole ever afterward. In this they are like the young man before and after he has a purpose in life.

REHBERG'S

ONE OF THESE

$11 or $14.50 Suits Ought to be Yours

Why? For several reasons. First one is value—value of a very pronounced type, the kind you don't often meet. This sale is the result of a very fortunate chain of circumstances—the suits were secured direct from a big manufacturer at practically our own prices. They're suits of a class that only high-class makers can design. There are plenty of models—nothing but good things throughout. And, best of all, no man is barred from getting one. Sizes for men of all builds.

Light, Cool Straw Hats

You'll like this straw hat to 2 of ours, big as it is, nothing but styles and straws you'll like are featured. There's a big call for Panamas. You'll find we're selling mighty fine ones within your means, at as little as $4, others higher. A great big showing of soft straws, pencil curls, Milans, Mackinaws, Sennits and other braids, $1 to $3.

regular or irregular. The savings average one-quarter and one-third. Saturday is the day $11 & $14.50 to get yours

For Young Men, a sale of Suits at $15.00

Great lot of clothes—ought to sell them for 1/4 more—we'd have to if we bought them in the ordinary way. It's about as complete an exposition of snappy styles, handsome fabrics and exclusive weaves as you've ever viewed—they're finer suits than $15 generally puts on your back. Innumerable conservative models, too, for serious minded young fellows. You've only to see them to realize why this youth's and young men's store of ours is such a popular one.

Here's Your Summer Shirt

To be in the best style it ought to have soft turned collar French cuffs and a soft detachable collar to match. Solid colors or pin stripes or pencil stripes are both popular, the latter the more popular of the two. There's a big showing at $1 and $1.50, with some very wonderful shirts at $2.00 and $2.50. This is the biggest silk hose season we've ever experienced, probably because we're selling a pure thread silk hose with re-enforced soles at 50c per pair. Almost any shade you want. These are washable scarf days and we're ready with a lot of really fine ones, 25c to 50c.

YOUR OXFORDS

We put special emphasis on the word "your" because we fit them so they are yours. Blacks and tans for all feet, be they regular or irregular. Prices from $2.50 to $5 that will prove great "wearers." An extensive showing of both men's and women's oxfords.

A Truly Remarkable Coat Sale

$9.95 and $12.50

As you glance over the items that are offered in Women's Coats today, you can't help but be impressed with the almost ridiculous price reductions. So deep are the "cuts" you naturally ask what is wrong with the coats?—not one single thing. Every new style feature of the season is represented, the coats are all made and finished up-to-date, in light summer weight fabrics and they fit perfectly

The lot comprises about 50 coats that were just received yesterday from a New York manufacturer. The regular prices would range from $18.50 to $35.00, but we made an unusually fortunate purchase. There are white serge coats, lined throughout; pongee coats; black silk coats; tan, navy and black serge coats, starting today they are on special sale at$9.95 and $12.50

GINGHAM DRESSES AT $2.95. All our Gingham Dresses, priced to $4.50, to close at special price of$2.95

WHITE DRESSES AT $1.39. White Dresses in dotted muslin and plain lawn, handsomely trimmed, regular $5.00 and $6.00 values, special at$1.39

EDGERTON.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, June 23.—Last evening Rev. G. K. Mac Innis, pastor of the M. E. church, who returned but two weeks ago from a tour of four months in Holy Land, delivered an entertaining and instructive lecture at the local church to a large and well pleased audience. Rev. Mac Innis took for his subject "A Visit to Four Continents, including Egypt." The speaker made a close and careful observation of all matters and points of interest on his travels and secured pictures which were displayed during the lecture which proved highly interesting to the audience. This, together with the able and comprehensive incidents of the travels and thoughts which he presented proved a most profitable point of interest of the old world. The receipts of the evening amounted to $44.65, which is very good, considering the intensely hot night. Rev. Mac Innis has received applications for lectures from various points of the state which he may possibly accept.

After the meeting there was a surprise in store for their sister number, Mrs. August Stricker, the occasion being her 48th birthday. About fifty were in attendance.

LEE O'NEIL BROWNE BEATS UP REPORTER

Springfield Correspondent of Chicago
Paper is Knocked Out for Forty Minutes by Lawmaker.

Springfield, Ill., June 23.—Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, former minority leader in the house, last night made an assault upon E. O. Phillips, legislative reporter for the Chicago Tribune.

The assault occurred in the speaker's room and it was the outcome of the legislative exposure. Physicians say the blow Phillips received may result seriously.

Browne, who is one of the huskiest men in the house physically, and Phillips, who is of slight build, met in the speaker's room.

Browne declares that after a torrent of abuse Browne struck Phillips on the left cheek with his open palm. As Phillips sank to his knees Browne hit him a blow under the left ear that left him unconscious for 40 minutes.

Browne's version is that during his talk with Phillips he lost his temper and simply slapped the correspondent. Speaker Adkins' testimony is to the same effect. Other spectators, however, are positive that Browne followed the slap with a terrific blow.

Representatives Whitaker and Martin, the physician members of the house, were at once summoned, while Dr. N. S. Penick was called from Springfield. Phillips remained unconscious for 40 minutes, and when he revived the physician discovered the marks of the blow under the right ear. In the opinion of the physician, the blow came within less than an inch of proving far more serious than a knockout.

MRS. DELL N. SPAETE INSANE.
Author Goes Mad as Husband Sidelines in Jail.

Boston, June 23.—Beautiful, accomplished, and only twenty-four years of age, Mrs. Dell Lovenia Noel Spaete, playwright and author, is a ravine lunatic in a sanitarium near Boston on account of the financial misdeeds of Oscar P. Spaete, her husband, which drove him to suicide Wednesday night in a jail cell in Detroit, Mich.

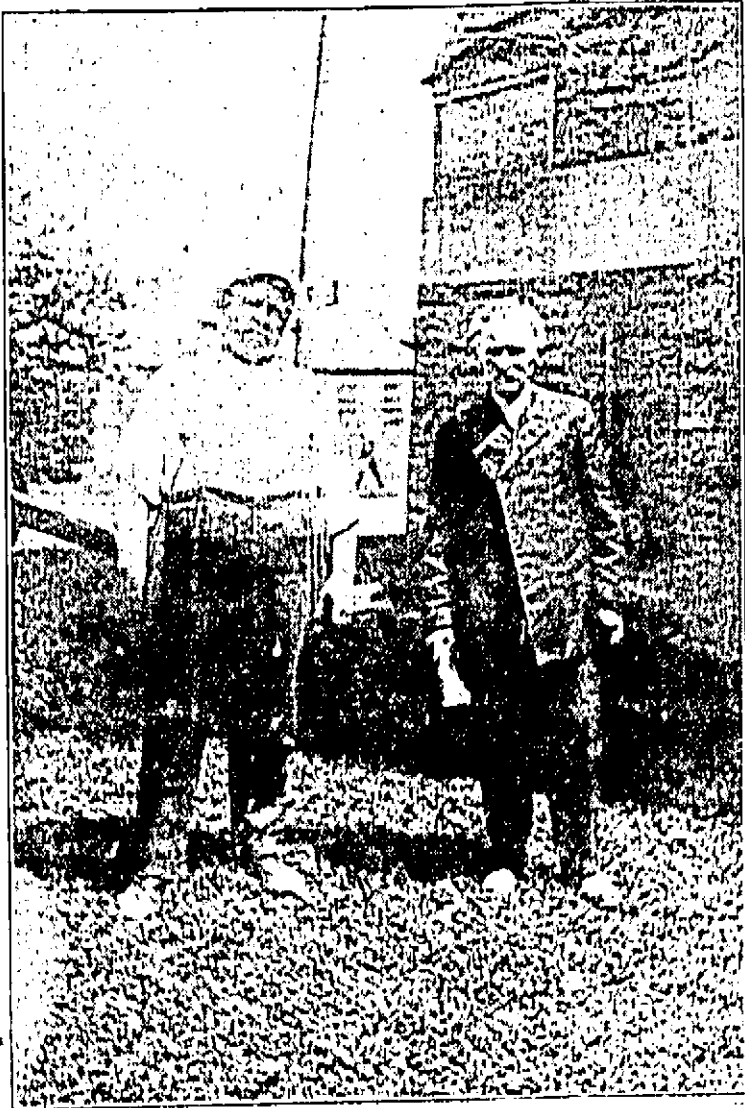

Spaete, who was brought to ruin through mad attempts to secure a fortune by frenzied finance methods, drank carbolic acid in his cell, it was revealed, rather than face the consequences of his acts and because he feared he would lose his young bride, whom he married at Leicester last October.

After he had left her he wrote to her upbraiding himself for the evil course into which he had fallen and protesting in extravagant terms his love. But the strain was too much and her brain gave way and she was taken to a sanitarium in Dorchester.

REV. F. E. CLARK IS "TOUCHED."
"Father" of Christian Endeavor Movement Victim of Pickpockets.

Cleveland, O., June 23.—An irreverent pickpocket "touched" Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., "father" of the Christian Endeavor movement, and the latter was forced to borrow money from his friends among the officers of the society, which is holding its state convention here. His purse which was stolen contained $50 and his railroad ticket. Friends lent him money with which to pay his hotel bill and purchase more transportation.

Prince Edward is 17. London, June 23.—Next to King George it is probable that most public attention has centered this week in his eldest son and heir, Prince Edward, who celebrates his seventeenth birthday today. At the present time Prince Edward is giving much attention to the preparations for his investiture which is to take place at Carnarvon Castle next month. Whether he shall go to Oxford next fall or enter Sandhurst for a short military course seems not to have been determined as yet. In any event it is regarded as likely that his royal Highness will soon have a separate establishment of his own. Various places have been mentioned already, among them Frogmore.

Northfield Conferences Open. East Northfield, Mass., June 23.—The students' conference, the first of the religious gatherings established here by the late Dwight L. Moody, opened today with delegates present from many colleges of the United States and Canada. The conference will remain in session until July 2 and will have as speakers John R. Mott, Robert E. Speer, Bishop A. S. Lloyd and other noted religious workers.

Growth of Atlantic City. Atlantic City was incorporated in 1854, the year when the first passenger train was run from the Delaware river to the Atlantic ocean. At that time the village consisted of half a dozen families which had increased to a population of 1,043, in 1870, according to the United States census. Ten years later it had grown to 6,477; in 1890 it was 13,055, and in 1900 there were 27,533 residents.

Odors of the Kitchen. At a cooking lecture in Brooklyn recently a woman in the audience, during the conference that followed the lecture, said that she had learned when boiling any vegetable of high flavor, such as cabbage or onions, to do the work in the oven. This saved the permeating of the kitchen and other parts of the house with the maledorous steam.

Treasure Trove.

The curious powers and duties of the coroner, under traditional law, are illustrated by a recent incident at Southgate, England. Some workmen digging in the Amberley Road found a large number of ancient coins. Immediately the coroner was called and he empaneled a jury.

An expert numismatist testified that the coins were "Long Cross" pennies of the reign of Henry III, 1207 to 1272. The jury then found a verdict that the coins were ancient, that they had been concealed and that their discoverer was unknown.

"Then I seize the coins as the King's treasure trove," said the coroner—and he did.

Intelligent Steam Pipe.

"Bob Foulite (actor)—Failure? I should say it was! The whole play was ruined. She—Gracious! How was that? Bob Foulite—At the end of the last act a steam pipe burst and blew me off the stage.—London. The Ills.

Stamps of Peace and War.

The republic of Haiti easily takes first rank in warlike display upon its stamps. Its stamps literally breathe war, with cannon, ammunition, small arms and flags prominently displayed. On the contrary, the island colony of Nevis, in the West Indies, the birthplace of Alexander Hamilton, teaches peace and charity. Its stamps depict the "good Samaritan" administering aid and comfort to a fallen comrade.

Little One's Bright Idea.

"That is very pretty crockery, indeed," said the little girl who was looking at the bric-a-brac. "I suppose these are some of the family jars of which I have heard Uncle James speak."

Once an Actress.

A woman who has been on the stage, even if her experience in the drama has been limited to an amateur performance as a housemaid in a society play, can never hope to be thoroughly trusted by her female neighbors.

An Infrequent Traveler.

Mrs. Sylvia Merriam, who is 72 years old, took her second ride in a railroad coach the other day—her first ride she took 42 years ago. Her journey was to Ansonia, where she came to visit her niece. She had her first street car ride when, with Mrs. Amelia Thompson, aged 67 years, and Mrs. Amanda Bishop, aged 60 years, and Mrs. Rosa Andrews, aged 70 years, all of them relatives, she went to Cheshire, the village of her birth.—N. Y. Times.

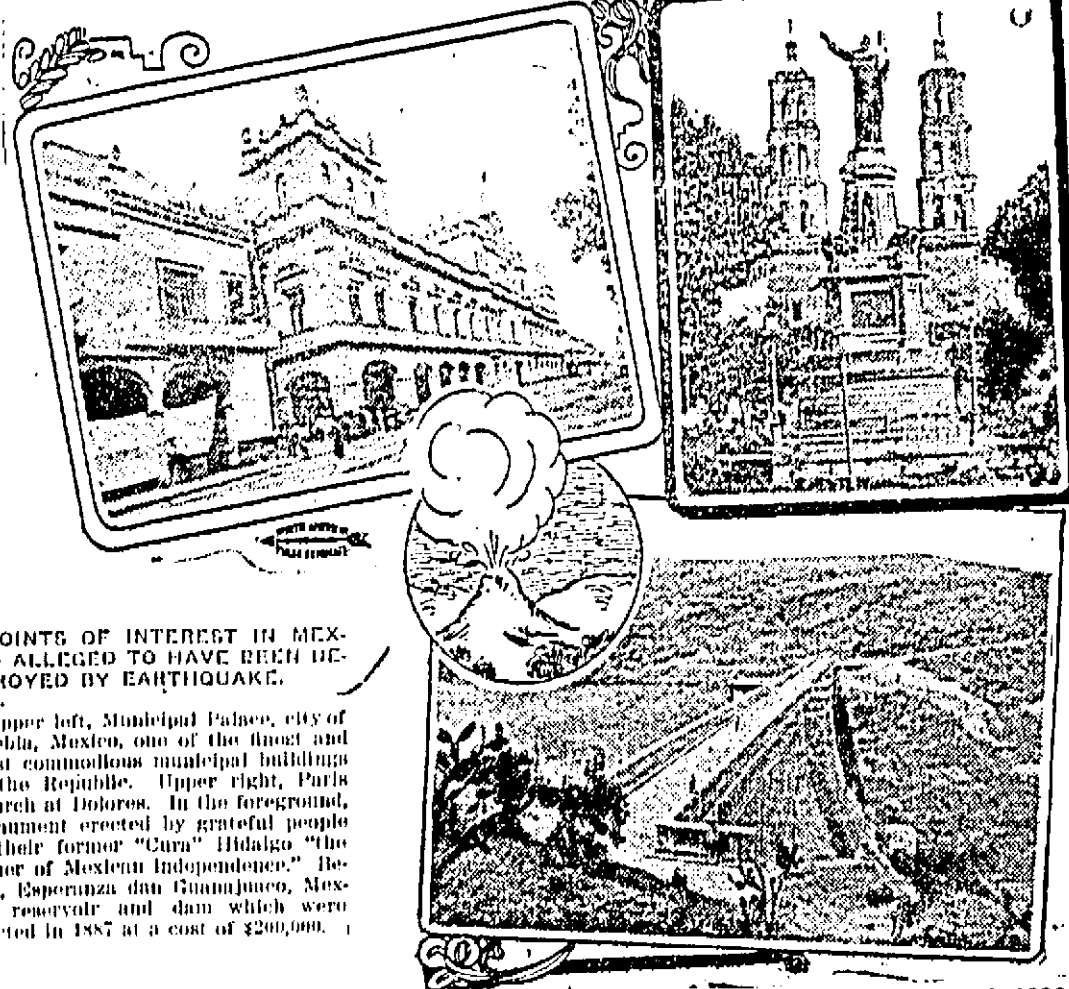

As Regards Endurance.

"Do you think you'd stand any show in heaven?" asked the curate earnestly.

"Well, I don't know," replied the man about town. "I've been able to stand almost every old show that was ever produced on earth."

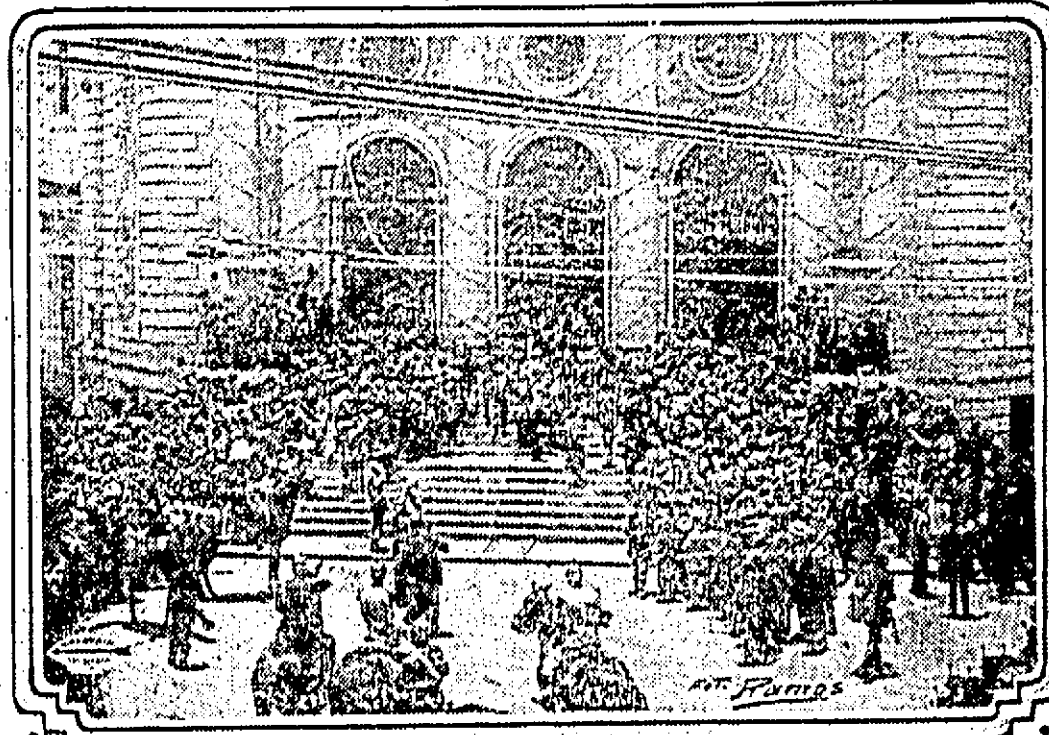

Mighty Close.

"Riches may not fetch what do well" calls "happiness," said Brother Williams, "but they comes mighty close for it w'en dey pays house rent."

POINTS OF INTEREST IN MEXICO ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN DESTROYED BY EARTHQUAKE.

Upper left, Municipal Palace, city of Puebla, Mexico, one of the finest and most commodious municipal buildings in the Republic. Upper right, Paris Church at Dolores. In the foreground, monument erected by grateful people to their former "Cura" Hidalgo "the father of Mexican Independence." Below, Esplanada San Guadalupe, Mexico, reservoir and dam which were erected in 1887 at a cost of $200,000.

FIRST PICTURE OF PRESIDENT DE LA BARRA OF MEXICO SINCE HIS APPOINTMENT. President De la Barra on the steps of the capital, immediately after his inauguration. This picture was taken on the 28th of May while he was addressing the throng which greeted him as he left the chamber.

Anklets for Bathers.

A curio shop at Atlantic City is offering for sale as a novelty anklets made of various materials, from gold to hard rubber. Some time ago Mrs. Harold P. McCormick of Chicago was reported to have introduced the anklet style by wearing one of solid gold with bangles and the question "will the anklet become popular?" was a subject for much discussion in society of the Lake City. The Atlantic City dealer seems to have solved the question, for his circular reads in part: "The anklet will be the correct thing with all well dressed bathers this season. Call and see these of flange silver, with or without extra ornamentation, and made to fit any person."

Blames the Romans.

A satirical authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was needless to say, a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of a fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance, at the home of the host, he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

The Child's Hair.

Don't plait or curl a child's hair very tightly at night. Poor and scanty tresses may very often be traced to having the hair strained back too tightly at night. Better straight hair than curls and waves when young, bought at this price.

Wherein They Differ.

"When a man is young," remarked the moralizer, "he's anxious to show his knowledge."

"Yes," rejoined the demoralizer, "and when he gets old he's just as anxious to conceal his ignorance."

SPECIAL ENACTMENT MAKES BONDS LEGAL

ACT INTRODUCED ESPECIALLY TO COVER JANESVILLE BRIDGE
CASE PASSED BY LEGIS-LATURE.

PROBLEM IS SOLVED

Provides That Bonds Up to And in Excess of $20,000 May Be Issued for Erection of Bridges in Third Class Cities.

By a special act passed by the Wisconsin legislature the bonds issued by the city of Janesville for the erection of bridges across Rock river, are legalized. According to the wording of the measure, which was introduced and passed June 21st, a city of the third class may issue bonds for the erection of a bridge or bridges up to and in excess of $20,000 in any one year.

By the terms of this act, which was introduced with the Janesville case especially in view, it would be possible for this city to authorize, legally, the issue of bonds for the erection of both the structures at Fourth avenue and Racine street, providing the previously required vote of the people had given their sanction to such a proceeding.

By the terms of the city charter which was interpreted to limit the bond issue of the city for the erection of a bridge to $20,000 in any one year, Janesville was hampered in such a manner that it was deemed advisable to build only the one structure this year. The new act, however, has solved this difficulty and has made it possible for the erection of both the bridges in the same year.

The text of this important law reads as follows:

CHAPTER 414, LAWS OF 1911.

AN ACT to create section 559-35e of the statutes, to authorize and validate the issuance and sale of bonds heretofore issued or ordered issued by any city of the third class, for the purpose of constructing any bridge or bridges thereon.

The people of the State of Wisconsin, do enact as follows:

Section 1. There is added to the statutes a new section to read: Section 559-35e. When the common council of any city of the third class, hereafter incorporated, shall heretofore have authorized the issuance and sale of the bonds of such city for the purpose of constructing any bridge or bridges thereon, in a sum up to, including and in excess of the sum of twenty thousand dollars in any one year, after the question "Shall a special tax be levied for such purpose" has been duly submitted to the electors of such city, and favorably voted upon by a two-thirds vote of the electors thereof, voting on such question at an election ordered by resolution of the common council and held for such purpose, the action of such council is hereby authorized and validated and is hereby authorized and validated in such form as has been provided for by ordinance of such city, shall be and they are hereby declared to be authorized, legal and valid, the construction of any such bridge or bridges authorized, and the sale of bonds is hereby authorized, and any and all such bonds shall be of full force and effect as the legal and binding obligations of such city, negotiable according to the law merchant; provided, that this act shall not apply to any bonds issued in any amount which, with all other indebtedness of such city shall exceed any debt limit prescribed for cities by the constitution of this state.

Section 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved June 21, 1911.

Physical Connection.

After a debate that lasted about half as long as any one of the half score debates in the assembly on the same measure, the senate at Madison advanced the telephone physical connection bill which requires farmers' and local telephone lines to grant the use of their services in connection with the longer lines of the state.

The bill is designed to bring about a co-operation between companies for the good of the general public. When the spirit of the law is carried out a lawyer in the capital will be able to talk with his grandmother on some independent farmers' line anywhere in the state.

Section 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved June 21, 1911.

GRADUATING CLASS GAVE ANNUAL PARTY

Members of 1911 High School Class at Delightful Party in Assembly Hall Last Evening.

Last evening the annual senior party was given at the Assembly hall by the class of 1911. This was the last of a long line of social events which marked the commencement exercises. From the time that the seniors were entertained by Prof. West at his home in Milton, up to the senior party last evening, the time has been one of gaiety and pleasure for the graduates.

However, the event of last evening is of special significance, for it marks the breaking up of the class and its consequent scattering. About seventy-five couples attended the party and danced to inspirations furnished by Knoff's telephone orchestra. Although it was exceedingly warm, the spirits of the company were not dampened and all spent a very pleasant evening, dancing until one o'clock.

The hall was very tastefully decorated with the class colors, purple and gold. Streamers were hung from the center of the hall to the walls, which were festooned with banners and the class emblems. The orchestra was seated on a platform which was banked and screened by a wall of willow green. Flowers were tastefully furnished with screens of willow branches which were interwoven.

FULL ACREAGE FOR STATE IS REPORTED

Edgerton Reporter States Wisconsin
Will Have Fullest Tobacco
Acreage in History.

The transference of the tobacco crop has gone forward so satisfactorily that by the close of the present week very little of the intended acreage will be left unplanted anywhere in the state, says the Edgerton Tobacco

Reporter of June 23. There has scarcely been any delays from lack of plants or weather conditions since the work first began, so the crop has the most even start ever experienced by the growers. We will come nearer getting out the full acreage this season than ever before in the history of the state. The early fields have taken on a remarkable growth that gives promise of an early harvest.

Copious general rains which came the latter part of the week, followed by excellent growing weather, have given a tremendous impulse to growing crops and about the recently set tobacco fields send out an amazing pace. It is seldom that growers have witnessed this crop start under more promising conditions. The seedling has been completed and the fields present an even stand of plants, all strongly rooted and making fine progress. It is plain to see that an early harvest is in prospect, so early in fact as to interfere with other farm work, as the great bulk of other crop was transplanted a few earlier date than any previous year in the history of the state.

Everywhere the trade in leaf is reported quiet with transactions invariably of a small order nature. G. W.

Stutzman of New York has been looking through the local markets during the week and we learn that he has purchased 15000 of the '09 picking of John

Southman of Janesville, and about 10000 from country holders. An occasional lot is still being lifted from third hands in the country.

The shipments out of storage reach but about 300 cases from this market to all points since last report.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I HAVE been rebuked. My offense is using the expression "middle class," several times in a recent article.

My censor tells me that he is surprised that such a democratic person as I have seemed to be, should speak so much of "classes." He reminds me that according to a certain very good authority all people are born free and equal, and that the possession or lack of money does not make one man better or worse than another and that there is no such thing as a class.

I accept the rebuke. But I do not entirely agree with the gentleman. I admit I was at fault in the article cited because when I referred to the middle class, I did mean those with a moderate amount of the world's goods, and in so doing I went back on my own conviction that class is not founded on money.

But I very heartily disagree with the gentleman when he says there is no such thing as a class.

There most certainly is such a thing. The most radical, the most democratic, the most socialist or anarchist person living must admit that there are persons to whom he looks up and other persons to whom he instinctively feels himself superior.

I am sure my censor himself if he would be entirely honest would admit having felt that same way.

And in looking up he admits the existence of a higher class. In looking down he concedes a lower.

But what is this class distinction that we all feel founded on?

Well, there are some crude people who make the possession of money their sole class criterion.

To them the millionaire, no matter how ignorant, how coarse, how common, how little he may be, is of the upper class.

And the man of poverty, no matter how refined, how well bred and well educated, is to them of the lower class.

But that is only one point of view.

My censor objects to it. I do myself and I know you do.

But what then is our sense of class distinction founded on?

What should we mean when we refer to the "upper class?"

Well that's just what I want you to tell me, my friends.

It is a subject on which I have often thought I had my own idea, but I'd like to know what yours is.

The forum is open to you. I hope that besides my old friends some of those who haven't yet joined us will speak this time.

Remember not more than one hundred words, preferably less, so that when I hold the symposium on this subject, I can include many points of view.

Vacation Chats.

A Vacation in a Canoe.

THE vacation outdoors is growing more and more in favor. Nor is this sort of vacation confined any longer to men. Once upon a time, it was thought that only those of the masculine persuasion could camp and tramp and canoe. But today women are taking to outdoor vacation in quite as great numbers as men, and proving that they are quite as equal to its exertions and its emergencies.

One of the most enjoyable of these outdoor vacations is a canoe trip. Vanlyke tells delightfully of a canoe trip on one of the little rivers of Maine. Canoe trips of various lengths can be taken quite easily in the Adirondacks. But for that matter those who have a mind for a canoe trip will find the waterway and the canoe.

That it is quite a practical vacation for women, if they so desire is shown by the fact that last summer, two school teachers canoed from New York City to Chesapeake Bay. They had a delightful trip and reached their destination in the best of health and spirits.

Objections to such a trip are more in the mind than in reality. It is the old-fashioned, conventional point of view that says such a trip is impossible for women. When these old-time notions are thrown overboard, the expedition resolves itself into certain practical necessities which can be easily supplied by any one resourceful and ingenious.

What one needs for such a trip depends upon the trip itself. In the Adirondacks, if so desired, everything can be hired from guides. One needs to do little more than seat herself in the canoe and get out at stated times to eat and sleep. The canoe trip of the school teachers probably is an example of the other end of the experience. For they did everything for themselves. They took the trip in their own canoe, paddled it themselves, made their own camp, captained the expedition in every detail.

A prime requisite for such a trip is a knowledge of swimming. For a canoe is a wobbly proposition, and one is liable to have an unexpected bath. But aside from this, what is taken depends upon the character of the trip.

It is without doubt a wonderfully invigorating and enjoyable vacation, especially for the one who is indoors throughout the year and who has a love of nature. The long days slipping noiselessly over silvery water, the long nights with the moonlight sifting down through the trees, or with the great blue vault studded with stars for a canopy, the dawn with its bird calls, the twilight with its cherry camp fire, make a little spot of enchantment in the year's dull routine that never fades from memory.

The sentiment for such vacations for women is growing. It causes little comment abroad for women to camp or tramp or caravan or canoe. But until the last few years, such expeditions were rather unusual here. But happily this feeling is changing. The Berkshire and the Adirondacks and the Catskills see now many a feminine pedestrian with a knapsack or a rucksack on her back. Women wielding the paddle of a canoe are a familiar sight on our waterways. And everywhere gleam the white tents of women campers.

It is a happy sign of the times. For the woman who passes her summer outdoors will be stronger physically and have a better understanding of real values in life.

William Penn a Promoter.

June 23.—You have seen the picture of William Penn standing talking with a group of smiling Indians. It is a picture of William making his celebrated treaty on which Mr. Red skin placed his "saw hawk" and William completed the same by writing in "his mark." This was on June 23, 1682, and Penn thought his work was finished. He had acquired all the land covered by the treaty through a debt of $30,000 that Charles II. owed Penn's father. Penn inherited the claim and when he asked Charles to "cash" the latter said he was short on cash, but long on land in America. Penn took a deed of the land which was supposed to cover three degrees in latitude and five in longitude. He was also made governor of the land and could do about as he pleased without asking any questions. But Penn wasn't that sort of a promoter so he went in from the start to make things pleasant. While a strict Quaker himself he made the laws which gave freedom of belief to all. But disputes arose about the boundary lines, his deputies were incapable or dishonest and Penn's vast fortune was almost wiped out in trying to pay claims that were incurred by faithless officials. He was contemplating selling all his lands in Pennsylvania to the crown when he was overtaken by death on July 30, 1718. He died in his 71th year.

A Few Fritters.

Fritters are universally liked and a batter which may be used for all kinds of fruit fritters is the following:

Mix and sift together a cup of flour, a teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and the beaten yolks of two eggs, the grated rind of a lemon and half a cup of milk. Beat well and cut and fold in the beaten whites of the eggs.

When making apple fritters, core, pare and cut in round slices. For eight apples, mix one-fourth of a cup of sugar and four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Let the apples stand in this syrup for an hour; dip in the fritter batter and fry in hot fat. Drain on brown paper. Sprinkle with sugar.

Treat bananas in the same way, cutting them in quarters. Orange, peach and pear fritters are prepared the same way.

Corn Fritters.

Chop a can of corn and add a cup of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder and two teaspoonfuls of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Drop by spoonfuls in hot fat and drain on brown paper.

Paranip Fritters.

Wash cooked paranips, removing the tough skins. To each cup add a beaten egg; season with salt, pepper and a pinch of sugar. If thin add a little flour. Fry in deep fat or in a small amount on a griddle.

Shell Fritters.

Add the grated rind and juice of a lemon to a cup of water and half a cup of butter; cook two minutes. Add a half cup of sugar and two cups of flour; beat until the mixture leaves the side of the pan. Cool and add five eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat and fry 10 to 12 minutes. Drain on brown paper, sprinkle with sugar and serve with chocolate or orange sauce.

CHRLICH'S CANCER EXPERIMENTS.

Professor Ehrlich, who is generally recognized as the foremost medical investigator of the day, reports the results of some recent investigations into the cause and cure of cancer, which "showed that the tumor growth in mice could to a great extent be controlled by certain diets. It was also found that if mice that already had a tumor were fed with these minimum quantities (of certain foods) the tumor would cease growing, and in those mice that were living on rice, in some cases degenerate. But, of course, the mouse would die in a few weeks from want of properly balanced nourishment." This confirms (as far as it goes) the nutritive theory of the cause and cure of cancer first announced in this country through these hints more than a year ago. Like many other medical investigators, Ehrlich had a bad school record, failing many times, and although his bio-chemical work is brilliant, he had no regular training in chemistry, indicating that, as in the case of Pasteur, Metchnikoff and other great medical discoverers, who were not physicians, specialization is necessary for great accomplishment in any scientific work.

How Ladies Improve Looks!

"Many ladies, old and young, suffer a round of tortures with their nerves, and many are so frail, thin and bloodless, that their splendid features are lost sight of, while a vain attempt to conceal the angularity of the figure deceives no one but themselves and really excites the pity or ridicule of the world," said a well known, largely employed practicing physician, in a recent lecture at a young ladies' college. "I do not mind exposing a little secret of mine to you, as it can do us no harm and may result in much happiness and health. It is simply this: Any thin, bloodless, nerve-tortured man or woman can become as fit as the fittest by taking regularly for several months an easily obtained pharmaceutical product known by the profession and pharmacists, as 'three-grain hypno-melancholic' put up in sealed packages with directions for home use."

Matchless Flour A Perfectly "Balanced" Flour

A perfectly balanced flour is one which contains the greatest amount of nutriment in its most easily digested form. No single variety of wheat will produce "well balanced" flour. It requires the careful selection of different kinds. The makers of MATCHLESS FLOUR have many elevators scattered throughout the great Northwest, the greatest wheat growing country in the world, which enables them to secure the very pick of the wheat that will yield. The kind of flour that produces the best, the largest and strongest loaf. The loaf which contains the greatest amount of bone, muscle and brain-making protein and the lowest percentage of waste.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Father was a diplomatic sort of a fellow, anyway.

BRITZ HEADQUARTERS

By MARVIN BARBER

ILLUSTRATIONS BY BERRY

In the patient's face was a rapt look that told him he was as far away from his present environment as if he had been in the little dingy curio shop where young Mr. Fitz had been seen. His pliant hands had been plunged many times into a dough-like lump plastic as if sculptor's clay at one end of the bench. A row of jars at the back of the bench was flanked by a phalanx of vials. An earthen bowl half full of water stood at his right hand. Directly in front of him, scattered in workmanlike confusion, were several palette knives and mixing brushes. Casually his fingers plucked tiny pellets from the plastic lump, rolled and patted them, dipped them in the bowl of water, coated them with the many-colored contents of the vials and jars, then thrust them upon the board with industry purposeful of performance, but purposeful of achievement.

At times a spectral smile seemed to glow upon his cadaverous features—a faint gleam like the specter of a corpse-light. The sunlight, reflected from the rows of jars and bottles, played queer tricks with the contour of his face and gave his tireless hands a ghost-like appearance. He was a poor little shriveled remnant of a man, the dried core of what had been a dabbler in the occult, and which along normal channels might have been a distinguished scientist. No one looking at him could ever have pictured him as possessed of the greed of gain. Britz, though he made no pretense of being a psychologist, comprehended at a glance the outer vision of the former curio shop proprietor conveyed little to his distraught scientific mind. Beyond doubt, the old man, as Fitz had said, had run the shop merely as a means to an end. Fitz and Britz stood looking at him for a few moments before he became aware of their presence. When at last he glanced up, a shade of perplexity flitted across his face, his fingers halted, but they did not stop in their studious task, and he looked at them inquiringly. With a slight shake of his head he apparently gave up the attempt to puzzle out their identity, and once more bent his eyes on the bench he firmly regarded as the threshold to Golconda.

"Guess you don't remember me, Mr. Martin," said the doctor. The old man appeared not to hear. Britz and Fitz exchanged glances, and the detective took up the attempt to awaken a response from the aged inmate's mental vacuum.

"Pretty busy man, eh?" said Britz. He had touched the right chord. Any reference to the industry that absorbed his fading senses was sure to arouse the intelligence of the old curio dealer. He nodded briskly, and went on with his work more zealously than before.

"Got to finish a contract on time," the Headquarters man pursued.

Another vigorous little nod, followed by a swift search of the detective's face on the part of the old man's sunken eyes.

"Rather interesting work you're doing," pursued the detective.

Thereupon Mr. Martin rejoined:

"It is the only work that can interest me. I have given my life to it."

"Find it profitable?" inquired the youth.

For an instant those gray fingers paused in their manipulation of the clay pellets.

"Well, it depends on what you call profitable, young man," answered the ward of the State. "There are things more important than monetary gain."

"Oh, yes, I know, I know," said the detective hastily. "I suppose your work is purely scientific?"

"It is more than science," answered Martin. "It is art, philosophy, philanthropy—everything. It is the crystallization of the beautiful. Love is beauty, and beauty is life. All mankind needs is beauty in greater measure and higher degree to attain perfection of happiness."

"And you are engaged in forwarding that theory?"

"Yes," said the old man simply. "I have taken upon myself the task of glorifying every home in the world with the prisoned sunshine of the centuries. Every abode of man, however you so much. Other men have done things far worse than that!"

"Nothing could be worse," screamed Martin, springing from the low stool on which he sat and facing his visitors in an agony of abasement. "I sold the delight of my eyes, the light of my life, the star of my soul—the queen of all jewels, the purest, truest, most beautiful diamond the world has ever known!"

"Yes," said the detective, "but don't forget it was yours to sell. You had a right to do as you pleased with it."

"I had no such right," cried the alchemist. "That diamond was the product of my laboring hours. I brought it forth from the air, the sunshine, the silver water, the milk of the moon, as an Aphrodite is fashioned of dew and mist. It was not a mere stone; it had thought and sense and soul; it was a microcosm of the marvelous!"

Fitz could not hide his astonishment at the learning and poetry the fearfully agitated old man displayed. Britz himself, had not his thoughts been focused rigorously on his purpose, would have stopped to wonder at them. As it was he struck the iron of the alchemist's remorse at white heat.

"What did the stranger want with it?" demanded the detective.

"I don't know," said Martin. His voice still trembled, his features worked, his hands fluttered and knotted themselves in the intensity of his emotion. "He came to me a stranger; he went away the same, and with him went my queen of jewels, my beautiful, beautiful diamond of diamonds! But I will find him," he shrieked. "For centuries I have been upon his path. He thought all things ended between us when he lured me into parting with my treasure. He said because he had suggested the outline and color of the stone he had a right to make me give it to him for his money; but it was I—I who thrust into the center of the glorious gem the fire from heaven. I penned the sunbursts in the priceless prism, and it is mine. It is mine by right of creation!"

This outburst excited the old man, but in a little while there was another outburst of his emotions. He fairly shouted:

"I will have him; though, I will come up with him yet, and when I do, I will give him back his money and make him return the diamond to me. He thought he left nothing to tell me who he is. He thought I never would be able to find him in this big town. He felt sure the old curio dealer would not venture far enough away from his shop to track such a fine gentleman. But he forgot one thing. I have kept it all these years, and through it I will find him yet!"

Abstractedly he thrust his hand into an inner pocket and fished out a bit of cardboard. Excitedly he waved it in front of the detective's eyes. Britz related for a moment the impulse to snatch it from his grasp, but he gripped himself sharply. Awaiting developments was one of the detective's strong points. As he expected, the old alchemist was in a state of mind to share his knowledge with anybody. After a few more flourishes, Martin laid in Britz's hand a man's visiting card, face down.

Studiously avoiding any appearance of haste, Britz turned it up and read the single line engraved upon it. Without the tremor of a muscle, and with only one swift significant look, he passed the card to Fitz.

The doctor, a little less self-restrained than the detective, looked steadily at a drawing on the back, gazed earnestly at the inscription on the face, then wonderingly, before the card fluttered from his fingers; he read the line aloud.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Assistant District Attorney.

While Britz was struggling with the tangled threads of contradictory circumstances that constituted the fabric of the diamond mystery, the district attorney's office was not inactive. With the slow stealthiness of a cat approaching its prey it combined the disconnected fragments of evidence gathered by the police into the semblance of a perfect case, and prepared to present it to a jury. The grand jury had indicted Elmer Holcomb, and again she was dragged into the glare of a courtroom, this time to plead to the indictment. There remained only the verdict of a petit jury to open the gates of state's prison for her. Her lawyer was served with the fatal notice of trial, and she was made to realize the great struggle was about to begin.

Assistant District Attorney Mott was taking a last survey of the depositions in the case, mentally picturing the curtain of gilt he would wave before the jury. To his mind the evidence was conclusive. It pointed irresistibly to Miss Holcomb as the thief.

And yet, the prosecutor felt there was something strangely lacking in the structure; something that made it appear hollow and unreal. No other reasonable explanation of the disappearance of Mrs. Mallow's necklace offered itself, and still it was hard to conceive Miss Holcomb as the thief. Mott knew that the same uncertainty in the minds of the jurors would inevitably result in a verdict of acquittal. The benefit of any reasonable doubt as to her guilt must go to her, and he realized he had yet to eliminate that last slim possibility of a verdict favorable to the prisoner.

Were it an ordinary larceny case he would be content to offer the testimony at hand and leave the verdict to the conscience of the jurors. But this trial would fill thousands of newspaper columns. The press of the entire country was on the alert for it. It meant much to a struggling assistant to obtain a conviction in so famous a case. To lose, he feared, would reflect on his own competence.

How God Answers Prayer

By REV. H. PAGE DYER
Rector of Episcopal Church of Assistance, Philadelphia

Why should we pray? Many intelligent people say "we should not pray and they give reasons for so believing. But even so, when there comes into their life some serious illness, or some approaching disaster, or the facing of death, almost all of them fall to prayer.

Even infidels and agnostics and atheists have been known to turn to God at such a time; they have ceased to rely upon their atheism or agnosticism and have felt the God they had denied to be their only help in their time of need. One such in his extremity, who was not willing to break wholly with his denial of God, cried out as he was lying, "O God, if there be a God, save my soul, if I have a soul."

If one were to ask us why we should pray we could give many answers. If we believe in a God at all (and almost everybody does), we realize his power and our dependence, and, therefore, the need of prayer. If he can help us (omnipotent) and knows how to help us (all-wise), then there is only left the need of our request or prayer.

Every religion of every kind, heathen, pagan, superstitious, Jewish, Christian, does pray. If, therefore, we fall to pray we are putting our judgment against every religion past and present known to man, and also against the instinct of every race, black, white, yellow, savage, wild or civilized.

This seems to be a rash position to take and we would not think of taking such a stand in any matter other than our relationship to God. And if there be an intelligent and loving deity, it is not very polite or courteous not to speak to him at times. This speaking to him should include adoration and thanks, as well as begging. We would not so neglect a merely human friend. But if we do pray, how does God answer us? We find men hold two diverse theories as to this. One is: That God sends his answer directly from heaven and not through an agent. But this is surely contrary to our universal experience. In our secular life every good and perfect gift comes from God alone, but always through some one else.

Our money comes from God, but through dealings with men; our clothing comes from God, but through dealings with an importer, merchant or tailor. In our physical life our birth, development, cure and nourishment all come from God, but through our mother, exercise, doctor and food. I said this at a mission and challenged any one to find an exception. The only thing they could suggest was a farmer's prayer for rain, which came. But this involved clouds and barometric pressure and oceans and forests and may meteorological agents.

The second and true theory is that God answers our prayers. He alone can, but always through some agency. As this is true in our secular and physical life, so it is true in our spiritual life. As we got our physical life from God through our mother, so we get our Christian life from God through baptism.

As we got our physical strength from God through exercise, so we get our spiritual strength from God through confirmation. As we got our spiritual nourishment from God through bread, meat, etc., so we get our spiritual nourishment from God through holy communion. As we get our physical cure from God through the doctor and medicine, so we get our spiritual cure from God through penance.

This law is so universal and so simple that we would never think of doubting it if it were not for our religious prejudices.

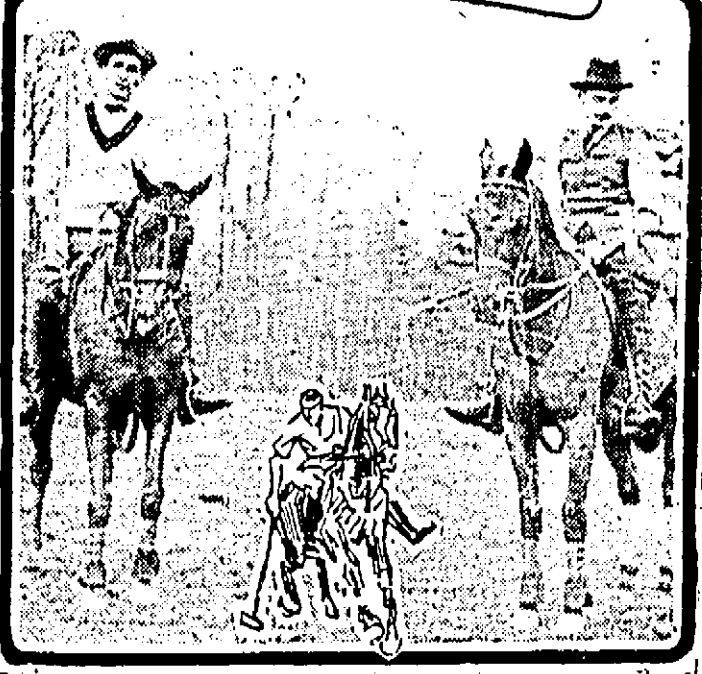

What are some of these agencies which God uses? The four fundamental needs of birth, strength, food, cure are supplied as above. There are many incidental and subsidiary needs all supplied by God but through agencies.

Restored in Christ.
Our Lord once encountered a man who had a withered hand. In spite of the captious questioning of the Jews, or perhaps in order to silence it, Christ, at the dictate of his own merciful heart, said to the afflicted man, stretch forth thine hand! And when he stretched it forth it was restored whole. The moral is evident—in human society there are many palsied hands—atrophyed powers or unused faculties—needing to be restored to full duty as social ministrants. There is only one way to accomplish this result—use what little power is left in stretching forth the imperfect faculty in the direction of Jesus Christ, who can endue it with fuller life and potency. If in your life there is any loss of efficiency, any withered hand, put it at once into working condition, through Christ's grace, in the line of duty.
